

Appendix

About World Brain Day

The World Federation of Neurology marked World Brain Day on 22 July with a call to increase public awareness and promote brain health advocacy, reducing the healthcare burden from brain disorders. This year's theme, "Brain Health and Prevention", aims to raise public awareness of preventing neurological disorders through early detection and effective management.